

ELIZABETH MANOR GOLF & COUNTRY CLUB

No. 1 • 365 yards • PAR FOUR

This hole is a slight dogleg, with water on the left and OB to the right, and golfers often have a tendency to hook or slice that first drive. Bunkers await slightly pulled shots both off the tee and into the green.

No. 2 • 320 yards • PAR FOUR

The green can be driven but the golfer who tries usually finds more trouble than those who lay up. A lay-up iron shot, short of a fairway bunker leaves the golfer only a wedge to the green bordered by bunkers. Trees offer trouble to the left and OB is on the right.

No. 3 • 573 yards • PAR FIVE

This is the longest hole on the course, down a straight stretch of fairway. Bunkers dot the way and a shot too far right will be OB. Otherwise trouble is at a minimum here.

No. 4 • 431 yards • PAR FOUR

One of the toughest pars on the front side, this hole also requires a straight shot. OB and a treacherous rough looms to the right. A big drive and a long straight second shot is required to avoid a large bunker protecting the right side.

Again a big drive is required. OB lies to the right, a fairway bunker down the left side and green-side bunkers both left and right await errant shots.

No. 6 • 143 yards • PAR THREE

The shortest hole on the course but labeled by many as "little poison". A generous opening is afforded the golfer at the front of the green, but bunkers to the left and right make hitting the green a necessity for par. Trees and OB lie on the right and a deep "wetlands" lies behind the green.

No. 7 • 344 yards • PAR FOUR

Perhaps the easiest hole on the golf course. Still golfers have a tendency to underclub on the approach and a three-putt on this large green is not uncommon. There is water to the right of the green and real trouble behind the green.

No. 8 • 415 yards • PAR FOUR

A dogleg left. To get close enough for a medium or short iron approach, a draw is required. However, if the ball does not carry far enough, trees will block the approach. A drive pulled too far left can reach a lateral water hazard. A small but deep bunker set to the right of the green guards the approach. Water is treacherously close to the left side of the green.

No. 9 • 160 yards • PAR THREE

A most scenic but treacherous hole. A large lake is only part of trouble on this hole. Bunkers in front and to the left have caused many bogies. OB lures to the right, behind, and to the far left near the practice putting green have caused many golfing nightmares.

No. 10 • 356 yards • PAR FOUR

An easy par four providing you play smart golf. A slight dogleg left requires a draw, OB on the left, two large pine trees on the right, and two fairway bunkers dictate a lay-up tee shot. Nervous golfers can bailout to the right of the two pine trees that will be in deep rough but nevertheless will give the golfer a straight shot to the green. The green is well protected by bunkers on the left and right.

No. 11 • 170 yards • PAR THREE

A straight shot over water to a well-bunkered green makes this an easy par three. A long errant tee shot will find OB behind the green.

No. 12 • 364 yards • PAR FOUR

A fairly easy par four. Golfers need merely keep the ball straight. OB lies to the left and thick woods to the right. Two well-placed fairway bunkers have caused many to regret their attempt to carry them. Two large bunkers also protect the green.

No. 13 • 331 yards • PAR FOUR

The most birdied hole in tournament golf. The hole is just as tough as it is easy. OB on the left, heavy roughs to the right and in front of the green have caused many to bogie. A lone greenside bunker guards the right front and shots five yards over the green will find OB.

No. 14 • 465 yards • PAR FOUR

This is the start of nightmare alley. Although a simple looking straightaway hole, OB lies to the left and heavy rough to the right. Two big shots are a must on this hole.

No. 15 • 430 yards • PAR FOUR

It's the toughest par four on the course. A dogleg left with two fairway bunkers to the left of the fairway just waiting for mishit or misdirected tee shots. OB is on the left. The big hitters can carry both fairway bunkers, which leaves a short second shot to a treacherous well-bunkered green. A long straight tee shot can find a golfer's ball in the lake located on hole No. 11.

No. 16 • 203 yards • PAR THREE

Another postage stamp size green, with bunkers guarding a narrow entrance to the green. This tee shot must be long and high, with a soft landing if you want to hold the green. OB left and heavy rough adds to this hole's toughness. Treacherous hole placements can add to the golfer's misery.

No. 17 • 431 yards • PAR FOUR

Another long demanding straight tee shot is required to avoid the left fairway bunker. An errant shot to far right will find heavy rough and large cedar bushes guarding the driving range which is OB. Of course there is heavy rough and OB on the far left as well.

No. 18 • 548 yards • PAR FIVE

A beautiful and tough finishing hole. A dogleg right, OB on the left and a water hazard on the right makes this hole somewhat interesting. Further, a lake crosses the fairway some 150 yards short of the green. A drive not carried far enough forces a golfer to lay-up short with his second shot. There is a lateral water hazard to the far left. Also OB is to the left and behind the green. A large green with a front left bunker is inviting only to the most daring golfers.
